DEDICATED TO ITS WORK

Imposing Ceremony at Trinity College for Women.

Grounds and Buildings Blessed by Cardinal Gibbons-Pontifical Mass Celebrated by Monsignor Martinelli-Dr. Conaty's Sermon-A Distinguished Assembly of Notables.

The solemn dedication of Trinity College too': place this morning. Sister Julia. Superior of the Order in the United States, had sent out cards of invitation for the ceremony, and the large attendance responding was composed of men and women occupying the foremest positons in the world of learning and culture, high Government officials, promiess men, and leaders in society. They formed a fitting and worthy acknowledgement of the noble work ac-ful event. There was sunshine in the air and in the hearts of those who had contributed toward the accomplishment of the work. Long before the hour set for the beginning of the ceremonies, a con-stant flow of invited guests began to fill the lecture room at the southwestern ex-tremity on the first floor, which had been transformed into a temporary chapel for the occasion. At a quarter before 10 o'clock the procession, composed of stu-dents, priests, monks, Bishops, and Arch-bishops, and headed by Cardinal Gibb. ns. chanting the "Benedictus," passed through the corridors and rooms of the building, the Carlinal blessing the same by offering prayers, sprinkling holy water, and the burning of incense. The Cardinal, who was attred in the full rich tre and preceded by his staff-bearer, was assisted by the Very Rev. William T. O'Hara, President of Mount St. Mary's College, Md., and the Very Rev. M. Byrnes, Vicar General of the diocese of. Boston, Mass.

After the ceremony of blessing the buildings, Archbishop Martinelli, the Apostolic Delegate, ascended the dais and Apostolic Delegate, ascended the dais and took his seat, where he was attended in donning the pontifical yestments for the mass to be celebrated by him.

The deacons of honor assisting at the celebration of the Pontifical Mass were the Very Rev. Dr. Byrne and Very Rev. Dr. O'Hara; the deacon of the mass was Rev. Timothy Brosnahan, of Waltham, Mass., and Rev. Dr. Rooker, secretary of the Apostolic delegation, acted as a subdeacon. Rev. Father Cark, of Providence, R. I., also assisted. The Paulist students of St. Thomas Coliege under the history of education. Among the charge of the musical programme for the occasion, and the fathers of the Holy Cross Coliege acted as masters of ceremonies during the celebration of the ponitical mass by Archbishop Martinelli.

Dr. Conaty's Address. After alluding to the distinguished character of the people present, Right Rev. Monsignor Conaty said:

"To establish a Catholic college for women is of the utmost importance to church and state for it means not only additional opportunities for liberal culture but it emphasizes the vital principle that the value of true culture is in religion as made known by Jesus Christ through the church which he has established. Right education is one of God's choicest blessing. The area do of God's choicest blessings. The age de-mends scholarship and woman's responsi-bility urges that intellectual as well as moral development unite in fitting her to do her full duty to society and to God in an intelligent faith and a sound knowledge.

"God's gifts are given to be used, and woman has a duty to cultivate them. St. Augustine says: 'No creature to whom God has confided the lamp of intelligence has a right to behave like a foolish virgin, let-ting the oil become exhausted because she has neglected to renew it, letting that light die out that was to have lighted her path

Quoting from Fenelon and Monsignor Dupauloup, the speaker developed the principle that woman had a duty to cult the mind; that women are educators, th influence in the home, their duties to child-hood—all these force them to give to edu-cation the union of their intellectual life with that of man, in order that the family and the home may do their whole duty to childhood. Woman needs culture, the com-pleted evelopment of mind and body, the development of mind and body, the ess of knowledge. Ignorance is not the leads to true womanhood. No one can gain-say her right to be educated according to her nature and in fitness for the needs of her life. True Christian womanhood is the ideal. Life demands from her the best cul-tivation of God's gifts, and intellectual and tivation of God's gifts, and intellectual culture, united with heart culture, must lead to the best results in family life.

Referring to the history of the church in the education of women, Mgr. Conaty cited from the annals of early church

At the death of her father she entered religion and became prioress of the Celestines. In the eighteenth century women took degrees in jurisprudence and philosophy in the papal universities, among them, and perhaps the most noted, being Laura Bassi in the University of Bologna. A remarkable feature of these women is that they were as well as well they were all they were as well they were as w that they were as well known for their piety and purity of life as for their high

The Corresponding Secretary of the National Musical Leader of the W. C. T. U. will render a solo. Visitation Nuns who built the first Academy for Catholic girls in America one hundred years ago. He said that the Church always favored the highest edn. cation, and never barred the doors to the intellectual department of women. She stood for the womanly woman, and has en against the new woman only when she violated the canons of a Christian womanhood. A short sketch was then given of Sister Julia, the Foundress of Notre Dame of Nemur, and the work of the Institute established by her, and said that the Christ ian idea of education was the idea (Christ in the minds and hearts of men.

Mgr. Conaty closed with a word of con-ratulation to the Sisters of Notice Dame, who, in this Holy Year and at the thresh. old of the new century, with the blessing of the illustrious Leo XIII, and the pray-ers of a Catholic womanhood, embarked upon the noble work of collegiate instruction in the Capital of the Nation and under the shadow of the great university which gives greeting to Trinity as to a younger sister; "Vivat, floreat, crescat, may she live, flourish, and grow, the home of wisdom, the mother of valiant women. he pride of our Church, and the honor of our country, a bulwark of religion and morality, the noble mother of a true Christian womanhood."

Entertained by the Sisters. After the ceremonies, the prelates, priests, and distinguished guests were entertained by the Sisters at breakfast.
